

Residential Project Experience

Our Services

Atlas has worked on residential projects across the UK, Europe and Australia. We are experienced in delivering residential design support services, assisting in the preparation of drawings including plans, elevations, sections, and details through the design development, tender, and construction documentation phases. We have also provided building license services in the Australian region. We have a comprehensive working experience of the various relevant building construction technologies. Our services have allowed clients greater flexibility to expand their team and resource base to enable them to meet fluctuations in demand, and focus on their core function of design.

Project Scale

Our residential projects have included luxury villa apartments, beach resort developments, multiple residential blocks as well as defence force accommodation across various sites. The scale of these projects has ranged from 20 to 250 unit apartments. Build costs in the UK have totaled between 18mil and 90mil USD, and in the Australian sector, from 12mil to 250mil USD. Atlas' portfolio also includes mixed-use commercial and residential projects of up to 70 stories, with build costs upwards of 330mil USD. Our programme of involvement has been from 6 months to 2 years.

Production Process

We typically produce CAD drawings and documentation to stipulated scales and agreed lists of deliverables in strict accordance with client protocols, working from clients briefing documents, hand sketches and marked up drawings. Our clear and concise communication methodologies allows for efficient and effective project documentation development.

Our service can be tailored to meet the client's requirements, and all our work is supervised and managed by UK and Australian architectural professionals to ensure high quality standards are met.
